Feasibility and risk

This section helps us to understand how you will successfully deliver your project.

We need to know your plans for managing the project, what your budget is and how you will respond to any risks or challenges.

You don't need to have managed a project before, but you need to be able to demonstrate that you have given consideration to how you will manage the project, the budget, and any risks/challenges, and that you or your project partners have the skills to ensure it is delivered successfully.

When we look at your answers to the questions in this section we will think about:

- whether the budget is appropriate for the scale and type of activity?
- how appropriate are the areas of income and spending?
- whether all items in the budget are relevant and reasonable [are fees or wages appropriate to the context? Have quotes for assets/equipment been appropriately researched for any purchases?]
- whether the activity is attracting income from other sources; - is any other income confirmed? If not, are your potential income sources realistic?
- if appropriate financial controls are in place - Do you or the people you're working with have the necessary skills to manage the budget?
- if the activity is realistic and well-planned, and if you have demonstrated that you or the people you are working with are able to deliver the project

Guillermo says, 'I have had a successful career as a Jazz/World music performer; specialising in Argentine Folk / Argentine Tango, singing with my band, Rioplatenses; one of the first bands to bring South American music to UK audiences (WOMAD, SouthBank centre, City of London Festival etc). I have facilitated in the community sector for WEA, Yorkshire Arts, Live Music Now, Breathe Easy, The Choir with No Name & many others & pioneered national research into choir singing & COPD with Sydney De Haan Dept. I have toured & performed with: - Gilad Atzmon's Orient House Ensemble (recorded the award-winning album, Musik) - Los Mareados & Tango Siempre - West-End musical Midnight Tango, ft. Vincent & Flavia. Arriving here in 2000, I took a MMus-Masters in Ethnomusicology (2005) at SOAS. Interested in the interface between improvisation & composition, I investigated proto-music & the linear trace through folkloric modalities. This led to my extensive study of vocal improvisation in Indian, Middle Eastern, African & Native North & South American music. Inspired by a performance by Bobby McFerrin, one of the world's leading vocal improv protagonists, I began experimenting with circlesong & am now a recognised Circlesong leader & have collaborated with Rhiannon (Bobby McFerrin's Voicestra), Joey Blake, Roger Treece & more. In 2019 I launched a collaborative vocal improv project, Anthropol: Songs of Humanity; a reimagining of pre-language music making, & explored vocal improv in duet with Jaka Skapin. Whilst performing together for a funded series of improvised movement & music workshop/performance for people with dementia & Alzheimers through Jewish Care, we pioneered virtual composition / improv techniques; which led to digital performance/Q & A's, at the Vocal Leadership Festival Rotterdam & Poplar Union Festival.' Risks and challenges

What are the main risks and challenges to your project meeting its aims?
What will you do to manage these risks?

Up to 1500 characters

Risk:

The existing public perception & cultural tropes associated with improv, preventing engagement & ecological impact.

Mitigation:

Challenging & transforming the perception through the production of an impact report, & peer reviewed analysis to ensure the ivory tower, & non-relatable tropes are replaced with understanding of the equity of the practice & its ability to reclaim folkloric ways of making music & centering spontaneity, responsivity & creativity.

Risk:

Delivering in a care home where the residents stay the same, whilst also working in the children's hospital where there is a lot of change; this will test the flexibility of the approach.

Mitigation:

Research, review & formalisation of the pedagogy for the first time; ensuring a standard but bespoke approach to each environment.

The team will lean into the experience of partners, for instance following the approach of Live Music in Care & receiving guidance on formalising the pedagogy, following sections of existing toolkits, exploring shared frameworks for evaluation.

Delivering the Outcomes

Your Project and the Outcomes

Our strategy sets out three outcomes; Creative People, Cultural Communities and A Creative and Cultural Country. We do not expect every project to address all three outcomes, but we do want projects to align to at least one and to set out in detail how particular components are being addressed.

You can read about our three outcomes here: <https://www.artscouncil.org.uk/outcomes-0>

When we look at your answers to the questions in this section, where relevant we will think about:

- How your project is supporting people at all stages of their lives to design, develop and increase their participation in high quality creative activities
- If your project focuses on children and young people:
 - If your project reaches families from a wide range of backgrounds
 - If you are widening and improving opportunities for children and young people to take part in creative activities outside schools
 - if your project is supporting children and young people to develop their creative skills and potential
- If you are working with communities to better understand and respond to their needs and interests, resulting in increased cultural engagement and the wide range of social benefits it brings
- If your project is exploring new types of creative practice, new forms of cultural content and new ways of reaching new and existing audiences and participants
- If you are collaborating with other cultural organisations and/or with the commercial creative industries and/or with further and higher education that focuses on innovation, research and development and training, especially in relation to the use of new technologies
- If your project is strengthening the international connections of cultural organisations and creative and cultural practitioners, including co-production and touring
- If your project is bringing world-class culture to audiences in England
- If your project helps to ensure people have opportunities to sustain their careers and fulfil their potential in the creative industries, especially those who are currently under-represented
- If your project is connecting people and places, nationally and internationally

How will your project contribute to the delivery of at least one of our Outcomes, including which, if any, of the Outcome components?

A Creative and Cultural Country: England's cultural sector is innovative, collaborative and international, Cultural Communities: Villages, towns and cities thrive through a collaborative approach to culture, Creative People: Everyone can develop and express creativity throughout their life

Creative people:

How will your project contribute to this outcome?

Up to 1500 characters

Collaborative vocal improvisation offers complete equity of access, & esp. works with ppl who are:

- non-verbal
- suffering Dementia & related mental/cognitive disorders
- in clinical settings/compromised capacity
- yng ppl
- non- English speaking.

Work will reach:

- Children's hospital - neurology dept. (partnered by Breathe Arts) 20 YP, & 40 extended family
- Jewish Care home (with Live Music Now) 25 residents & 15 family
- Live Music in Care module development - 6 research artists & 15 practitioners (online event & F2F).

The project will:

- support ppl to create music that meets their own musical identity, offering complete creative agency to individuals with little autonomy
- use improv as a tool to connect play, to storytelling, to creating a character, to using body percussion, to singing etc.
- bring musical activities into a space where children do not have access to live performance & interactive creative processes
- create musical experiences that engage on multiple levels, through use of instruments, sounds & objects that already exist in a hospital space.

The pedagogy research & modular framework will centre:

- participation modalities; use of play & vocalising as a means of personal expression.

The project will:

- address the development of accessible models for creative expression
- redefine care environments & ensure creative engagement opportunities for ppl with real barriers to participation.

Cultural Communities:

How will your project contribute to this outcome?

Up to 1500 characters

The project will:

- work with Jewish Care, accelerating a long-standing relationship (Guillermo delivers wkly sessions as well as a previous 'Dance For Life' project which examined music & movement immersions)
- create a modular framework, supported by a cross sector partnership with Jewish Care, hospitals, Live Music Now & Breathe Arts that reframes the therapeutic environment as a space for creative engagement in order to better understand the needs of those in the health & care systems & offer responsive cultural experiences, centering improv as a tool for engagement & creative skill development - inc. wider GLO/GSO documentation.
- develop evaluatory systems that capture the impact on cross sector outputs & outcomes, e.g. at the Evelina Children's hospital, delivery KPI's gauged against environmental adaptations will be measured against EDI metrics to determine a module that can be adapted by music practitioners in myriad care settings.

It:

- offers new research into how creative interventions can promote wellbeing published via final Live Music Now - Live music in Care modular approach
- broadens the scope for musical/vocal/movement practitioners to work in cross sector environments, engaging national Breathe Arts Health research framework; their existing programme at Guy's and St. Thomas enables this pilot programme at the Evelina Children's Hospital
- collabs with existing cultural orgs to improve their GLO outputs in new environments.

A Creative and Cultural Country:

How will your project contribute to this outcome?

Up to 1500 characters

Led by Guillermo, it's supported by Jaka Skapin & Kate Smith, (Argentinian, Slovenian, Germanic heritage) members of the core Anthropos ensemble.

Founded on the idea of combining international folkloric pedagogies in vocal work; integrating ancient modalities with modern therapeutic practice to create an integrated voice, movement & improvisation practice. Developing a framework for new to the modality practitioners it will:

- improve the visibility of the benefits of vocal improv
- sustain the careers of 5 mid career artists
- involve 6 research group members - community musicians, receiving training, shadowing opps & collaborative delivery sessions
- engage & develop the repertoire of 15 other vocal/music practitioners in the research phase
- create a co-designed pedagogical publication
- share work in a digital event designed to capture the findings, disseminate research nationally & encourage others to interact with the practice.

The project taps into global musical narratives, from genres to rhythm; creating universal tools that engage everyone in the room at different levels, whilst platforming the musical identities of the practitioners, & centering the UK in innovative, collaborative & international cultural activities.

Its cross cultural ethos empowers musicians to break the neo-colonised cycle of formal training as a barrier to becoming a music leader.

- applications for £100,000 and under

You need to complete the section on Inclusivity and Relevance.

You can answer any of the other questions in this section to help you develop your own approach to adopting the Investment Principles. If you do answer any of the other questions we'll take that information into consideration when we make a decision on your application

When we look at your answers to the questions in this section, where relevant, we will think about:

- If the Investment Principles you have responded to are relevant to the scale of your project, and what you want it to achieve
- If you have used the Investment Principles to give an in-depth picture of your project
- If the target audiences for the activity are clearly identified
- If you have thought about how your project could help you to make a contribution to the Creative Case for Diversity

- the quality of the experience for the people taking part in the project
- if the activity increases opportunities for people who don't currently get involved in the creativity and culture or are involved a little in creative and cultural activity
- if the activity increases opportunities for people already taking part in creative and cultural activity
- if plans to market the activity to audiences are well-defined, and are likely to achieve your aims
- if there is no immediate opportunity to involve people (for example, research and development), whether there is potential for the public to get involved in the future; and
- If you are you taking steps to improve the environmental responsibility of your project

All applicants need to complete the section on Inclusivity and Relevance.

Inclusivity and Relevance

This Investment Principle is about England's diversity being fully reflected in the organisations and individuals we support and the culture they produce through:

Communities

- Tell us who you want to reach with this project, how you have identified them, and how they have been involved in the planning and/or creative process
- Tell us about the steps will you take to make sure your project is open and accessible to people within the communities you plan to work with

Up to 1500 characters

The project targets:

- children & young people in health care settings
- older people with dementia
- music practitioners working in health care settings
- cultural orgs working in the social prescription & inter sector ecology.

The project has immediate & confirmed interaction with the cohorts of interest via existing relationships with Jewish Care, Live Music Now & Breathe Arts. The core team have already delivered test sessions, & Guillermo has a long standing relationship with staff & residents & has organised informal interviews during the testing phase to examine the effects of the work, how it is perceived & and what kind of activities they would like more of.

During delivery a research group of diverse community musicians will ensure the modular pedagogy is tested & co-designed by those who will use it. 50% are in place & the rest triaged through Live Music Now.

Training on the vocal improvisation module for Live Music Now will reach a large national pool of musicians through Art Jobs, Arts Admin, Breathe Arts & Live Music Now direct mail outs.

Workforce

- If you're engaging a team of people to work on your project, or are working in partnership with other individuals or organisations, tell us:
- How you will ensure they reflect the communities you wish to reach
- How you will ensure access to opportunities are open and accessible
- If you're not working with anyone else on your project you should explain why and consider how working with others would help you to reflect the communities you wish to reach.

Up to 1500 characters

In the hospital setting, the work is reaching extremely diverse communities, so the artists research group curates different cultural perspectives to add to the existing members of the ensemble. The onboarded members are well known musicians, who focus their work around community & connecting deeply to their cultural background. The remaining 3 will come via an open call in collaboration with Live Music Now, which has a national roster of diverse community artists.

Working within Jewish Care, with an older, Jewish demographic, its staff are Jewish, Caribbean, Asian, African, South American. In the Evelina hospital, in central London wards the patients, staff & families are from diverse backgrounds, so the ensemble & research group is devised to match that. The project will:

- visibilise representation
- encourage sightlines for emerging creative (esp YP in hospital)
- create safe connected spaces with relatable cultural experiences that protect against othering, micro aggression & elitist tropes of top down delivery.

Live Music Now & Breathe Arts connect the project, & vocal improv approaches to national conversations around culture & creativity in social prescription / healthcare settings & ensure the pedagogy is disseminated across apposite networks for maximum impact & usability.

Creative Case

- Tell us how your project addresses the Creative Case for Diversity

Read about the Creative Case for Diversity here

Up to 1500 characters

- All work is free to access
- The pedagogy is informed by global folkloric traditions
- The process centres vocal work, movement & musical activity that requires no previous skill
- The module for Live Music Now orients around dispelling elitist tropes re musical training in order to lead music work in the community whilst centering excellence
- Access support is provided for any live events, & large print versions of the impact reports
- The participation model requires no skill set or previous experience
- Digital event to share pedagogy will include captioning for the project presentation.

The core team have:

- conducted testing sessions with the support of Breathe Arts & Jewish Care
- spoken to staff & interviewed test participants after each session.

Taking this baseline data, the team will create an assessment framework to capture:

- Peer(research group artists)
- Partners (Breathe & Live Music Now)
- Participants (children/YP/older health & social care residents)

Working with an evaluator, & in partnership with Live Music Now the team will capture feedback & metrics against KPI indicators to measure quantitative & qualitative responses at the sessions, inc. moments that might be missed as facilitators.

There will be a research group that documents & shares the approach & explores how it applies to each member, given the variable metrics of quality, pedagogy & folkloric inheritance. Musicians will respond to other 'indicators' such as age, health condition, cultural origin etc, & actively scan for & learn to process some elements of the receivers' capacities that might inform the musical content. This information can be obtained directly by asking questions, to the receivers or to staff/ families.

The final module will take this broad approach & condense it in order to deliver engaging sessions based around collaborative vocal improvisation.

Developing Your Work

If this project aims to develop your skills (and those you work with) and contribute to your longer-term ambitions for strengthening the quality of your work, tell us about it here:

The project will:

- develop groups' reflective skills
- publish a peer reviewed & co-devised pedagogy which is widely applicable, clear & accessible
- build the visibility & viability of vocal improv as a tool for cultural / creative engagement in health/social care settings
- improve the understanding & engagement with improv from the music ecology dispelling tropes of it as a trivial/elite modality
- centre anthropos & connected practitioners in order to improve career prospects
- influence the national conversation on social prescription, improving understanding through the publication of a module with an establish cultural partner

It solidifies Guillermo's & the Anthropos collective's ambition to be a holding space between different cultures; de-codifying the process of using collaborative vocal improvisation, music that is co-created spontaneously & in-the-moment, in health & care settings. It builds & tests:

- the wider collective's skills as trainer
- a module; to be delivered under the Live Music in Care programme within the existing Live Music Now approach
- an online sharing event
- first ever commissioned impact report of the deliverables
- project management skills working with multiple national organisations.
